

TABLE OF CONTENTS

| | |
|--|----|
| 1. Background and Objectives of the Study..... | 1 |
| 1-1. Project methodology | |
| 1-2. Structure of the report | |
| 2. Analysis of the Current Status of Japanese NGOs..... | 8 |
| 2-1. Requisites for NGO policy advocacy | |
| 2-2. The advocacy capacity of Japanese NGOs | |
| (1) Fieldwork rather than policy work | |
| (2) Financial vulnerability | |
| (3) Lack of personnel capable of advocacy | |
| 2-3. Partnerships between Japanese NGOs and government, research institutes, and international networks | |
| (1) Government relations | |
| (2) The ability of Japanese NGOs to formulate and convey strategies | |
| 3. Strengthening the Capacity of Japan's Global Health NGOs —Focusing on Areas Where Short-Term Results Are Feasible..... | 19 |
| 3-1. Toward strategy formation for advocacy | |
| (1) Creating an “NGO consortium” | |
| (2) Cooperation with research institutions | |
| (3) Methods that take Japan's political culture into con- sideration | |
| 3-2. Creating and maintaining a route for private- sector funding | |
| 4. Functions and Roles of Global Health–Related Japanese Organizations | 30 |
| 4-1. The relationships between NGOs and government in- stitutions, the private sector, universities, and research institutions—a comparison with the United States | |
| (1) Government agencies | |
| (2) Other government-related institutions | |
| (3) Research institutes | |
| (4) Graduate schools | |
| (5) Private foundations | |
| (6) Private corporations | |
| (7) Think tanks | |
| (8) Development consultants | |
| 4-2. The social vulnerability of NGOs | |

| | |
|---|----|
| 5. Achievements to Date and Case Studies..... | 44 |
| 5-1. The results of NGO advocacy at the 2000 Kyushu-Okinawa G8 Summit, including dialogues with MOFA | |
| 5-2. Noteworthy example of partnership in developing policy recommendations | |
| 6. Recommendations to Enable Global Health NGOs to Realize Their Potential..... | 54 |
| 6-1. Promote the existing NGO alliance on global health and create a “Global Health NGO Consortium” with a secretariat | |
| 6-2. Create linkages between the “Global Health NGO Consortium” and university research institutes through dialogue between practitioners and researchers | |
| 6-3. Form NGO-business partnerships through academic institutions | |
| 6-4. NGO efforts to strengthen the ability of mass media to inform the public | |

References

Appendix

| | |
|------------------------------|----|
| NGO profiles..... | 64 |
| About the authors..... | 74 |
| About the organizations..... | 75 |

Tables

| | |
|--|----|
| 1. Japanese government contributions to international organizations, 2006..... | 2 |
| 2. List of interviewees..... | 5 |
| 3. List of advisors..... | 5 |
| 4. Major Japanese organizations involved in global health..... | 32 |
| 5. Academic associations related to global health..... | 37 |
| 6. Transitions in advocacy by NGO alliances..... | 45 |
| 7. Working Group on “Challenges in Global Health and Japan’s Contributions”..... | 50 |

Figures

| | |
|--|----|
| 1. Changes in proportion of bilateral ODA allocated to health..... | 3 |
| 2. Advocacy as defined in this study..... | 6 |
| 3. Models of cooperation in NGO advocacy..... | 29 |
| 4. The Okinawa Infectious Diseases Initiative..... | 47 |